

Million Dollar Brink's Holdup Solved By FBI

Six Arrested; Two Others In Jail, Two Free

BOSTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The nation's biggest cash holdup—the $1,218,211 cash Brink's job—has been solved, the FBI announced today.

Within hours of the announcement six men—all with criminal records—were held in jail for more than $100,000 each for a hearing in two weeks. Their bail totaled $670,000. They were brought into court with each manaced between two FBI men.

Two other men are in custody, one serving a term in the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh, Pa., the other in a Massachusetts jail for gun-carrying.

Two others are being sought.

The FBI said 11 men were involved in the holdup—seven were the masked gang wearing identical chauffeur's caps, Navy-type pea coats and gray trousers.

One of the 11 men died "of natural causes" a year ago, the announcement said.

Checks, Securities

In addition to the cash, the robbers' loot included $1,557,183.83 in checks, money orders and securities. It never was disclosed whether any of this was negotiable.

The FBI indicated none of the loot was recovered although serial numbers of $98,900 in bills were circulated throughout the nation. There was no hint given of the FBI's ideas of where the loot might be now.

Investigators concluded that the identifiable money which could be traced had been destroyed soon after the crime. That theory also was advanced for the checks and securities in the belief the thieves would sacrifice much to protect the rest of the fabulous loot.

The six men arraigned were: Adolph Maffie, 44, of North Quincy; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, Boston; Vincent J. Costa, 41, of Pembroke; Michael V. Geagan, 47, of Milton; Anthony Pino, 48, Boston; and Henry Baker, 49, of Natick.

Already in jail in other cases, but charged with the others are Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 47, of Boston; and Stanley A. Gusciora, 36, Boston.

Two Sought

Thomas F. Richardson, 48, of Weymouth and James I. Faherty, 44, of Boston, are being sought.

The 11th man named by the FBI was Joseph S. Banfield, 45, of Boston, who died a year ago.

The FBI said it has turned over all its evidence and reports in the case to Boston's Suffolk County Dist. Atty. Garrett Byrne.

Byrne announced he has extended the sitting of the Suffolk County grand jury—now in session—and will set aside all other business to proceed with the Brink's prosecution.

The announcement of the solution of the baffling crime said it was "an FBI job all the way." Because of that, Brink's express may not have to pay any of the $100,000 reward it offered for "information leading to the arrest and conviction" of the robbers. FBI men cannot accept such awards.

Close On Trail

The FBI had been close on the trail of the arrested men for a long time. All but one of the arrested men were called before a U. S. grand jury here three years ago in an inquiry which failed, however, to produce any indictments.

Under Massachusetts law the maximum penalty for armed robbery while masked is life imprisonment. The statute was amended to include the "masked" factor after the Brink's holdup.

Massachusetts state police rushed O'Keefe from the Hampden County jail in Springfield, Mass., where he was serving 27 months on a gun-carrying charge, to Byrne's office.

The other six were held by federal authorities, for arraignment on the federal warrants.

The six men were brought into a federal courtroom, manacled, and with two FBI agents clutching each man's arm.

U. S. Commissioner Francis H. Farrell continued their cases for two weeks for hearing. He set bail at $120,000 for McGinnis, and $110,000 each for the other five.

Leader Not Named

The FBI announcement did not disclose who was the leader of the 11-man robber gang.

One of the men now held in jail is Joseph J. "Specs" O'Keefe, 47, who reportedly was the target of a gun attack by Elmer "Trigger" Burke, who now is awaiting execution in New York for a murder.

The FBI said the robbery of the Brink's Express office in a downtown area of Boston near the North (railroad) Station was "the product of the combined thought and criminal experience of men who had known each other many years."

"The gang spent more than a year in planning the robbery and they started a systematic study of Brink's organization after it moved to its present location on Prince Street in Boston."

Nude Girls Lure Border Guards

VIENNA, Austria, Jan. 12 (AP)—Hungarian border guards, accused repeatedly of violating the Austrian frontier, came up today with what they thought was a very good excuse.

Their commanding officer claimed the guards were lured by Austrian girls bathing in the nude in the Pinka, a river which marks the frontier.

Appeal Issued For More Blood For Skip Price

AN URGENT plea for more donors to give blood to help keep Chauncey (Skip) Price, Mountainhome, on the road back to health again, was issued last night by the 29-year-old man's father.

Young Price is a patient in General Hospital. Since Dec. 2 he has had nearly 200 pints of fresh blood by transfusion. He is a victim of hemophilia, a disease which causes severe and constant bleeding since the blood will not clot normally.

Persons with "Type O" blood are urged to call Karl Price, the man's father, at his home phone number, Cresco 2866. The need for donors is "desperate and immediate," the father said.

Ike Stirs Second-Term Speculation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—News that President Eisenhower's name will be entered by his supporters in the March 13 New Hampshire primary brought word from the White House today that the President may comment after the formal action is taken.

Word from New Hampshire was that the President would say he has no objection—a report that stirred new second-term speculation. His name will be entered Monday.

At first, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said he would not comment on the filing report, even though that might appear in contrast with his Eisenhower-approved statement yesterday on moves to enter the President's name in Illinois.

Atomic Tests To Be Held In Pacific

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—A new series of atomic tests will be held in the Pacific this spring, it was announced today by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department. They will be smaller explosions than the huge 1954 hydrogen blast.

The joint announcement by the AEC and the Pentagon said that:

"In the absence of effective international agreement safeguarding by adequate inspection to limit or control armaments, the United States government continually endeavors to maintain the most modern efficient military strength for purposes of peace."

Emergency Plea Made To Congress

By Herb Altschull

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for a new school aid program under which the federal government would put up 1 1/4 billion dollars in direct grants for school construction over the next five years.

In a special message to Congress, he labeled his plan an emergency measure aimed at providing "the basis for better education in America in the years ahead."

Ability To Pay

States would be required to match the federal outlay on the basis of ability to pay.

The state with the greatest income per child would be required to put up $2 for every $1 in federal aid. The state with the smallest income per child would put up $1 for every $2 of federal money. The other states would be somewhere in between on a sliding rate.

Eisenhower asked Congress to vote 1 1/4 billions in grants. Another 750 million dollars would be to buy local school bonds if these cannot be sold on the market at reasonable interest rates. Twenty millions would go for grants to states for school planning. Total: $2,020,000,000.

Republicans generally applauded the President's proposal and a number of Democrats also gave it a pat on the back.

Opposed by Kelly

Not so, however, the author of a school aid bill already approved by the House Education Committee.

The author, Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.), said the major changes proposed by Eisenhower would slow up action on his bill and "jeopardize its fate as well as that of any other school construction bill."

Kelley's bill would supply $1,600,000,000 in federal school aid over a four-year period, without regard to state income.

The secretary of health, education and welfare, Marion Folsom, told a news conference the Kelley bill is not acceptable to the administration.

The big difference involves how the federal money would be divided. The Kelley plan calls for distribution to the states on the basis of the school age population. Eisenhower's proposal would supply the money on the basis of state income per pupil.

Controversial Features

Folsom said the Kelley bill would not give the money to the states that need school aid the most.

Kelley replied that the Eisenhower "variable grant" theory "would place the school business under further government control."

Leader Offers To Accept Sales Tax Compromise

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12 (AP)—Gov. Leader today offered to go along with a Republican sales tax to raise half the Commonwealth's revenue needs if the GOP agrees to support an administration program for the other half.

Salesman Admits Helping To Dissect Lover's Body

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—A poetry-writing salesman was said by police today to have admitted he helped dissect his sweetheart's body after she died during a bungled Christmas Eve abortion.

The dismembered parts—about 50 of them—were wrapped in gay Christmas gift wrappings and dumped in trash containers on the streets of upper Broadway.

Thomas G. Daniel, 24, was formally charged with homicide, along with an alleged accomplice, Leo Pijuan, 46, a pint-sized former hospital employee. Pijuan was named as the actual abortionist.

The victim in the sordid climax to an illicit love affair was 29-year-old Jacqueline Smith, a shapely blonde textile fashion designer.

Body Not Recovered

Her dissected body has not been found and police quoted Pijuan as telling a friend after her death:

"We got rid of it in pairs and other containers in different places."

Both Daniel and Pijuan were held without bail for hearings next Thursday.

Miss Smith was five or six weeks pregnant when she disappeared Christmas Eve from Daniel's East 27th Street apartment.

"For several months the deceased had been living with the defendant Daniel," said Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan. "She spent most of her nonworking time with Daniel."

He then got in touch with Pijuan, whom he knew, and Pijuan agreed to perform the abortion, telling Daniel that it would cost about $100 or $125. Fifty dollars of it was paid by Daniel.

At Daniel's apartment on Christmas Eve, Miss Smith submitted to the operation, which was performed by Pijuan in the presence of Daniel—as a matter of fact, with some little assistance from Daniel. During the operation she died.

Went To Doctor

"Early in December, she believed she was pregnant and went to a doctor and was examined. He told her she was about five or six weeks pregnant. She made plans for visits to the doctor and made a plan to visit him next on Dec. 28, 1955. She also made tentative plans for confinement."

"Miss Smith and the defendant Daniel discussed this and he refused to marry her."

"He then got in touch with Pijuan, whom he knew, and Pijuan agreed to perform the abortion, telling Daniel that it would cost about $100 or $125. Fifty dollars of it was paid by Daniel."

At Daniel's apartment on Christmas Eve, Miss Smith submitted to the operation, which was performed by Pijuan in the presence of Daniel—as a matter of fact, with some little assistance from Daniel. During the operation she died.

Officials Lay Groundwork For Projects

THE MOST effective way to get flood control projects started is to (1) educate the public to the need and (2) go after the work.

With these thoughts in mind a group of interested Monroe county men broke up a meeting with Corps of Engineers representatives with one major proposal under their belts. The proposal:

Proposed Council

To try to set up an "Upper Delaware Watershed Flood Control" commission or council.

Borough, township and county representatives at the meeting were in agreement that such a council should include communities along the Delaware and its tributaries. It would include, probably, small towns along the river this side of Easton upward to and through Port Jervis.

Also potential members would be such stream-towns as Canadensis, Ansonia and small towns and boroughs in Wayne and Pike counties. The organization would be responsible for a full-scale public information and education program designed to acquaint persons in the watershed with the continuing needs for flood control.

Those from local regions attending the conference, held in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, seemed in general agreement that it was the one method through which citizens could fight for flood control where needed.

Corps Represented

Besides the local men attending the meeting, there were representatives of the Philadelphia District, Corps of Engineers, present. Head of this group was Lt. Col. John C. H. Lee, Col. Lee is the officer in charge of a review of the Corps' "308 Report" which covers the Delaware River Basin.

This reexamination of "308" has been ordered by Congress as a result of damages done in the area in the August, 1955 flood. To conduct a part of its restudy the Corps is holding a public hearing in Monroe County Courthouse today beginning at 10:30 a.m. in courtroom number one.

At last night's meeting, Col. Lee answered questions from spokesmen for Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Barrett and the county. Those attending were: Edward C. Hess, engineer for both boroughs and the county; Hal H. Harris, Stroudsburg burgess; Harold Snyder, James Somers and George Robinson, Stroudsburg secretary, treasurer and solicitor respectively; Harold Albert, Stroud township supervisor; Wm. Price, Barrett supervisor; Charles Bensinger, East Stroudsburg solicitor and Rev. R. C. Stinson, county housing authority chairman.

Corps Objective

Col. Lee explained that the corps' present purpose is to conduct a "comprehensive survey of the Delaware River Watershed" and the report previously made. Such a restudy is a long-range program, he said. He estimated that the Corps district office would be able to submit a revised report and recommendations to Congress "sometime in 1957 or '58."

He told the group that the aim of the public hearing is to allow local residents to project their own ideas about flood control needs, damages and the history of stream flood stages in the area.

Today's flood damage hearing in the courthouse comes at a time when the Corps of Engineers' own damage survey in the area has been completed. This survey, conducted by Albright and Friel, Philadelphia engineering firm, has been prepared for the Corps. But information contained in it is not yet correlated or assimilated and cannot be released for public information, as yet.

Col. Lee explained that in coming into the area after the flood, the Corps of Engineers had acted under Law 875 covering expenditure of funds in an emergency through authorization from the FCDA. The money spent here, and elsewhere in the State, by the Corps came from its own civil works funds. This money is reimbursable by the FCDA.

Spokesmen from all areas of the Poconos which were touched by the flood are expected to attend today's hearing, Col. Lee said.

Troops Reach Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Friday, Jan. 13 (AP)—Shackleton and Hastings transports roared into Cyprus at half-hour intervals today loaded with battle-ready British parachute troops to beef up Britain's middle East defense forces.

Public Hearing Opens At 10:30

A PUBLIC hearing on flood damages and flood control needs will be held at 10:30 a.m. today in Courtroom No. 1, Monroe County Courthouse in Stroudsburg, Lt. Col. John C. H. Lee, Corps of Engineers, will be in charge of the hearing. Persons in the area are urged to attend.

T-B Society Fund Rises To $10,640

MONROE COUNTY Tuberculosis and Health Society's Christmas Seal sale fund moved up to $10,640.26 yesterday with another $89 worth of settlements for seals mailed out before Thanksgiving.

Returns to date are just $1,860 short of the required $12,500 budget of the T-B Society for 1956 operations.

These operations include liquidation of a debt on an x-ray machine which has provided chest x-rays for all patients admitted to General Hospital for the first time in county history. This same machine is also functioning to provide x-rays for all expectant mothers for the first time in history.

The additional program includes mass x-rays of athletes of the county, food-handlers, workers in industrial plants and constant service in all cases suspect of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the society, said she expects additional settlements will be made for Seals, either by mail or in person at TB headquarters, 621 Sarah St., Stroudsburg.

Retailers Air Complaint Against Fair-Trade Clubs

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Price cuts made by "fair-trading" manufacturers came in for critical analysis today at the windup of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn.'s 45th annual convention.

Merchants attending the four-day conclave said they didn't object to the reductions as such, but they didn't like the idea of being told by manufacturers to shave their profit margins.

The association includes some 7,000 department, apparel and specialty stores among its members. Chief object of the retailers' disapproval was a series of price cuts recently announced by small appliance manufacturers. The appliances are "fair traded," meaning that the manufacturer sets the final retail price, and merchants in states having fair trade laws must charge those prices.

Ford Reports Record Output

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Ford Motor Co. today notified the Securities and Exchange Commission that its passenger car output in the fourth quarter of 1955 was a record 608,000.

However, stocks in dealers' hands at the year end were at a postwar high of 187,000 vehicles.

H. L. Cleveland Reelected Grace Church Lay President

H. L. CLEVELAND has been reelected lay president of Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor, said Cleveland was reelected to the post at a reorganizational session of the annual congregational meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Alphonse Meyers was elected lay vice president; C. R. Kintner, secretary, and William P. Miller, treasurer. A special vestry committee later reported that Mrs. James E. Beers was appointed financial secretary.

At the congregational meeting, Dr. Anthony J. Harlachner was elected trustee. William J. Palmer, Sr. and Harold Repsher were elected deacons and Mrs. Leona Myer was named a deaconess. All will serve three year terms on the vestry.

Installation Sunday
The newly-elected officers and councilmen and councilwomen will be officially installed during the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

It was reported that $4,195 had been paid on the Muhlenberg College Appeal of the Ministerium leaving a balance of $1,986 to be paid by the end of 1956. Approximately one-quarter of the balance has been received in pledges. The vestry has pledged itself to meet the full assignment. Some $3,000 of the total amount will be used to purchase a room in the new men's dormitory in honor of Mrs. J. S. Kistler and in memory of the late pastor emeritus, Rev. Jacob S. Kistler. The congregation also voted to continue the annual honorarium of $1,200 a year to Mrs. Kistler.

By congregational action Pastor Wunder will be included in the social security plan of the government.

In his eight-page pastoral report Mr. Wunder reported gains in every phase of church life and a substantial gain in the financial report of the parish. The pastor indicated that the gross expenditures for 1955 approximately $40,000 including parish and Sunday School expenditures, flood relief fund, apportioned and unapportioned benevolences. This figure is the

Radio Ham Is Nominated For 1955 Amateur Award

A LOCAL RADIO HAM has been nominated for the 1955 Edison Amateur Radio Award.

He is Paul Crawn Jr., of Shawnee. Young Crawn is assistant radio communications officer with the Monroe County Civil Defense organization.

Crawn's name was submitted to General Electric Co., sponsor of the award, by Miss Nancy Townsend of East Aurora, N. Y. Judging in the event is slated for today by a committee of well-known "hams" in Washington, D. C.

Contacted here last night Crawn said that he feels there are numerous other radio amateurs who deserve such an award much more than he, himself, does.

Among these deserving persons, Crawn said, are Ernest Transue, radio communications officer for Monroe CD; Roy Keller, key station operator in the county system; Charles Baker, East Stroudsburg volunteer operator and Louis J. Papp, Easton, founder of a wide radio network warning system and the man who predicted, accurately, the flood crest.

Application For Damages Is Revised

STROUD UNION School District has filed a revised application for flood damage reimbursement with the State Civil Defense organization.

The new application asks repayment of about $19,000 in damages suffered during the August flood here. An original application filed by the district also asked for reimbursement of losses in taxable property due to the flood.

District officials have been notified that the CD cannot include such damages in its reimbursable categories. Therefore the estimate was returned for revisions, Earl F. Groner, district superintendent, said this week.

Only damages for which the district can show a "paid bill" have been included in the new estimate, Groner said.

Stets Appointed Dinner Chairman By Association

PETER J. KALDES, president of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Restaurant Association, has announced that Albert J. Stets, of Pocono Manor, is general chairman of the fourth annual NPRA dinner on Tuesday, Jan. 24, in the Twin Grill Restaurant, Scranton.

The program will open at 6 p.m. with an informal reception honoring Lynmar Brock, president of the Pennsylvania Restaurant Association. The dinner will be at 7:30 p.m. and entertainment will conclude the affair.

Mr. Stets will be assisted by the following committee members: Bernard E. Byorek and Albert Genetti, of Hazleton; Clayton J. Karabelas and Francis O'Connell, of Wilkes-Barre; George Colovos, Milton J. Davis, Daniel J. Millett, Joseph H. Mulherin, Charles Rozell and Michael Savas, of Scranton.

Truck Misses School Bus, Strikes Pole

QUICK-thinking yesterday was credited with saving a group of school children from possible harm.

Milford State Police said a tractor-trailer and a telephone company truck were following a school bus operated by Amzie Howey which was returning to Bushkill from East Stroudsburg.

About a mile from Bushkill on Route 209, the bus driver slowed down and signaled the two trucks to pass him, troopers said. However, the trailer truck driver, Francis Petretsch, 34, Barnsville, Pa., was unable to slow down his heavy vehicle quickly enough.

Sensing what was happening, the unidentified utility truck driver tried to pull out of the way of the tractor-trailer, troopers said.

The tractor-trailer was able to clear the school bus, but crashed into a utility pole, police said. A temporary power failure resulted in some nearby homes.

F. B. Michaels Again Heads Security Trust

FRANK B. Michaels has been reelected president of the Stroudsburg Security Trust Co.

Michaels was reelected yesterday at the reorganizational meeting of the trust company's board of directors. Three new appointments were made at that time.

Others officers follow: Frank S. LeBar, new vice-president; C. D. Shull, vice-president and solicitor; Robert Davenport, assistant vice-president; Paul D. Whelan, treasurer; H. Glenn Sanborn, III, new assistant treasurer; Miss Joyce Rutt, secretary; Mrs. Ora Miller, new assistant secretary; Dr. Charles B. Flagler, board chairman; John Watt, trust officer, and Mrs. Ora Miller, assistant trust officer.

Youth Hurt In Collision

A TEEN-AGE motorist was injured slightly last night when his car went into a skid on Route 611 near Tobyhanna and crashed into a Highway Department cinder truck.

State Police said Edward Champney, 18, Tobyhanna, was treated at the scene by Dr. E. O. Hendrick, Mount Pocono, for contusions of the left leg.

Pfc. James Reilly, who investigated the case, said Champney's car skidded on the slick highway and crashed into the oncoming cinder truck operated by George Leonard, 23, Tobyhanna.

About $1,000 damage was caused to the truck, and an estimated $400 damage was caused to the auto.

Fantastic New Discoveries Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—George P. Larrick, commissioner of food and drugs, predicts "fantastic new discoveries" in his field.

Among other things, he told a news conference, the housewife of the future "will not have to cook if she doesn't want to." He said "in the next decade or so pre-cooked and prepackaged food will" make cooking "an avocation instead of a necessity."

Land Company Elects Officers, Authorizes Purchase Of 46-Acre Tract For New Homes

REV. ROGER C. Stimson yesterday was named president of the Monroe County Land and Building Co. at an organizational session of the group organized to acquire land on which to build homes for middle income families.

Members of the board also elected Carol Campbell, secretary;

Walter Dreher, treasurer; and George T. Robinson, solicitor.

Other board members are Frank S. LaBar, Frank Stackhouse, Mrs. Ruth Pond, Floyd Kellogg, Forrest Smith and William Kraemer.

The board also authorized the purchase of a 46-acre tract off W.

Main St. at the borough line on which to build up to 100 homes in the $7,000 to $10,000 bracket.

Directors will now make a concerted effort to sell some $20,000 in $100 shares on which investors can expect a nominal return, Mr. Stimson said.

E. S. Board Names Four To Authority

EAST STROUDSBURG School Board appointed four men to a new building authority last night.

Named to the board were: Clifford Cramer, Claude Cramer, Edwin Hughes and A. J. Harlacher.

These four men will serve on an authority whose responsibility will be to issue bonds and provide financial means for construction of a new East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School.

The other five districts in the jointure are each to appoint one man to the building authority. The member districts are: Price, Middle Smithfield, Smithfield, Porter and Lehman Townships.

Daughter Born To County Couple

A SEVEN-pound, 12-ounce girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Kunkle, Brodheadsville, at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, yesterday morning. She has been named Wanda May.

Mr. Kunkle was formerly principal of the Delaware Water Gap School, and now teaches at the Chestnuthill High School.

School Board Authorizes Hiring Of Four Teachers

APPROVAL OF THE hiring of new personnel by the Stroud Union School District was given this week by the school board.

Roy Werkheiser has been hired at an annual salary of $2,700 as daytime janitor at the high school. Werkheiser has been working and on the payroll since Monday, Jan. 9.

Board members authorized Earl F. Groner, superintendent, to create and fill a new position of clerk in the union school offices. Mrs. Mildred Allen is the main clerk for the school district.

Volume Doubled

According to a report by Groner and board secretary Herbert Crane, the volume of work done by clerks since the formation of the union district has more than doubled. If the district is to "catch up on its bookkeeping," the new clerical position is an "absolute necessity," Groner said.

Groner was also authorized to hire four new elementary teachers in preparation for the 1956-57 school year. The superintendent said that an "early start" in interviewing college graduates is of prime importance in securing the best possible candidates for teaching positions. He also pointed out that, if interviewed early, many local students and graduates would "rather stay in Monroe County School, and now teaches at the Chestnuthill High School."

Replacing Of Bridges Discussed

MONROE County commissioners yesterday discussed the financial aspects of replacing the county's flood-damaged bridges.

Present at the board meeting were County Engineer Edward C. Hess and E. H. Albright, district township engineer, State Highway Department.

The commissioners sought to learn how the county was to receive reimbursement for the bridge construction. They also sought to establish a definite procedure before putting the work out to bids.

Albright referred all legal questions to Harrisburg, according to Chief Clerk Henry McCool.

Railroads Told: Meet Competition

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Major railroads were called upon today to revitalize their freight-handling methods to meet competition of truckers.

The need for better services was discussed by railroad representatives and traffic managers of various industries at the start of a two-day meeting of the Atlantic States Shippers Advisory Board.

Although the 175 major U.S. railroads handle more than 50 per cent of the total tonnage shipped, they transport less than 25 per cent of small shipments, or less than carload lots, Charles B. Roder, president of the advisory board, said.

There is no better time to choose that long talked of memorial than now while all concerned are here to give it careful thought.

Consideration And Decision On Wallpack Bend Dam Should Come From Army Engineers

The assurance that Francis A. Pitkin, chairman of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, will file a statement at today's public hearings set up by the Army Engineers to take a "fresh look" at flood control and water utilization of the Delaware River Basin, means that the Wallpack Bend Dam will be brought into consideration.

Not the least of the hard-hit flood areas was the Bushkill section and all along the Delaware River south of the proposed site of the Wallpack Bend Dam at Bushkill.

In their overall study of the flood control facets and water utilization highlighted by the Aug. 18-19 floods, the Army Engineers should incorporate some decision on the Wallpack Bend Dam which has, as one of its principle features, control of stream level through impounding and release of water in the proposed dam.

This control of stream flow would accomplish two purposes: It would act as a flood deterrent during periods of high water by catching and holding run-offs or heavy storm precipitation, and it would go a long way toward solving the encroachments of salt water which is costly and very damaging to industrial developments in the lower Delaware.

By releasing the impounded flood waters in periods of drought and low stream levels, the Wallpack Bend Dam would hold back the invasion of salt water in the lower river and Delaware Bay area by maintaining a stable level at Trenton, N. J.

Beyond this, there is the strictly local—but all-important angle—that the Bushkill area suffered hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage in last summer's flood. Additional damages were suffered all along the river.

The people affected should have a clear-cut decision on which they can base a stable course of future action. Right now they are wondering: Shall we go to the expense of trying to salvage some of our investment by rebuilding, or should we take a total loss and abandon plans for the future?

For these reasons we feel it is incumbent on the Army Engineers to give solid consideration to the Wallpack Bend Dam and announce a decision promptly.

Hard-Headed Business Will Control Value Of Ford Motor Company Stock

Henry Ford speaks wisely and properly when he tells the representatives of American banking houses that anyone who expects a miracle of fast profit from buying some of the more than ten million dollars worth of Ford Motor Stock placed on the market next week is indulging in wishful thinking.

Not that Mr. Ford has no faith in potential additional returns from his huge corporation. On the contrary, he is optimistic as usual about the future of the American automotive industry and particularly of his own organization.

But the president of the Ford company is a realist who understands, as he says, that his business is "subject to the same risks and hazards as others who have stakes in the industry, operating as it is against the stiffest kind of competition."

Furthermore, he anticipates another good year in 1956, although he is reasonably sure it will not turn out as profitable as last year.

Mr. Ford's approach to the epic offer of Ford stock to the general public, the first time this has been done in the long history of the corporation, is a most sane and sensible one, as he warns potential investors against expecting a bonanza from the very possession of such stock.

The Ford motormen, says his boss, are not miracle workers, but hard-headed businessmen who will continue to do their best in a highly competitive world. They assuredly can not guarantee to new shareholders a fantastic, immediate profit on purchased stock.

It is well to have this sort of considered opinion from one of America's leading industrialists, and we hope those who seek a share of the stock next week will heed his words.

Strange But True People Sell Selves Into Slavery

It's odd, but in a sense true, that even in this relatively enlightened land of the free thousands of people still insist on selling themselves into slavery.

At any rate, they cherish jealously the dubious privilege of hiring out to do the kinds of drudgery that could be done as well or better by machines—and which, in less enlightened societies, would be done only by slaves.

This thought, which hadn't occurred to me before, was expanded recently by one G. M. Muschamp, a Philadelphia industrial engineer, in a memorandum to his boss.

"As I see it," he said, "we are primarily concerned with taking the manpower we have and expanding its capacity to produce the goods and conditions that the world wants, and to relegate to machines things that humans do not want to do, need not do and often cannot do."

"Today people insist on being used to do work that machines might do. This insistence... is borne of a fear that people may be deprived of their livelihoods if they do not insist on doing the work which a machine can do better. (Historic proof that this fear is without foundation has not yet become effective in reducing this insistence)."

"However, this insistence, it seems to me, is not so prevalent or so adamant or hysterical as it once was. At least we have not seen recent cases of people breaking up machines with sledge hammers as they did in the 18th century."

"I predict that from now on people will relax their insistence upon being used as machines. The great revolution of the 2000's will be man's refusal to be used as a machine... That refusal will eventually be as absolute and final as we would reject the notion of carrying out the world's business seated on a log in the woods, in the dead of winter, with only a bearskin about our loins."

The man may be a bit optimistic about the length of time it will take to overcome the fears of automation, but I suspect he is right in his confidence that eventually they will be overcome.

There are a good many kinds of hard work people refuse to do today which they once accepted as a matter of course. As just one example, try to hire a woman to do your laundry at home on an old-fashioned washboard. Or even a hand-pumped washing machine.

A fantastic future will open up before us once we get our minds squeaked around so they will think of automation as a liberation rather than a menace.

Think of all the wonderful things that can't be done now but might be accomplished if we'd turn over to machines everything that machines are now available to do and free our brains and energies to concentrate on tasks for which there are no machines.

Robert S. Allen Reports

New Move To Reject Pay To Korean War Prisoners

Washington, January 13.—The Foreign Claims Settlement Commission has some extraordinary legal advice on how to handle its most explosive problem—refusing to pay $2,500-a-day reparations to veterans of the Korean war accused of collaborating while in Red prison camps.

Andrew T. McGuire, general counsel of the Commission, has officially advised it to sidestep those tough charges and, instead to reject the claims of these POW on the ground they were not starved and abused by the Communists.

This singular recommendation is contained in a secret memorandum McGuire has submitted to the Commission.

Dated December 12, 1955, the document was written after a storm of protests arose over the disclosure that the Commission had denied the $2,500-a-day reparations claims of approximately 250 POW because of alleged collaboration with their Red captors. A number of these veterans have Purple Heart and other combat decorations, and some are receiving disability compensation. Foremost among the critics were Senators William Langer (R., N. D.), Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) and Representative Thomas Ashley (D., O.). The former, members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, launched an investigation in preparation for a public airing of the Commission's action.

McGuire's secret memorandum was uncovered by Committee agents. He and Commission Chairman Whitney Gilliland will be interrogated about it.

Note: Under the War Claims Act, prisoners of war are entitled to $2,500-a-day reparations if their treatment by the enemy was contrary to the provisions of the Geneva Conventions.

What he says — Following is what McGuire secretly told the Commission on how to evade paying Korean veterans their reparations claims.

"It is suggested that in the disallowance of claims under Section 6 (c) of the Act in which collaboration is an issue, the decision be based upon the finding that the evidence is insufficient to warrant the conclusion that the claimant was not fed or treated as provided in the Geneva Convention of July 27, 1929. No reference, express or implied, need be made therein to any official document or report which the Commission may have considered."

In addition to this recommendation, McGuire also urged the Commission to impose an Iron Curtain on its dealings with these POW. Following is what he says on that.

"That a verbatim transcript of the testimony at a hearing (demanded by a veteran on his rejected claim) need not be made, and that a near-summary by the hearing officer in attendance shall suffice. . . . That the claimant shall not have recourse to the confidential records or reports furnished to the Commission by the Department of Defense. . . . Hearing on claims is necessary only when some constitutional right is claimed to be invaded."

Basis of this last point is McGuire's contention that the Commission can disregard "the requirements of due process of law." On that he declares:

"It follows, therefore, that in matters respecting benefits or gratuities where no vested rights are concerned, an administrative body need not, as a matter of law, comply with the requirements of due process of law."

Other highlights of this remarkable memorandum in the hands of Senators Langer and Kefauver are:

"The Commission has previously considered the question of evidence in relation to the provision excluding collaborators. In one opinion, it was stated that a claimant 'cannot qualify unless he proves that he was not a collaborator.' This may imply that the claimant should have an opportunity of establishing the fact."

Inasmuch as the bill, when enacted, included no such provision, it can only be concluded that Congress intended that the Commission have the sole discretion to decide each issue relating to collaboration. Moreover, it serves to prove that the issue herein is purely a matter of policy.

"When the Commission makes a determination, it merely finds that a claimant is or is not entitled to benefits; to the gratuities authorized by the Congress. The Commission does not, in any sense, sit in judgment upon a claimant like a tribunal having penal jurisdiction. A finding of ineligibility does not carry with it any other finding respecting the claimant's character or integrity, by implication or otherwise. No greater stigma attaches to such a finding than to one by the Veterans Administration in connection with a claim for disability benefits."

Note: The Senate Judiciary Committee and McGuire, from New London, Conn., have tangled before. The Committee blocked his appointment in 1953 to a federal judgeship in Alaska. President Eisenhower named him, but the Committee rebuffed McGuire on the ground of "lack of experience."

Bulletin Board — Late March or early April is the new date the President's Commission on Veterans' Pensions will make its widely-awaited report. It was to be submitted by December 1, but the Commission, headed by General Omar Bradley, found the job far more comprehensive than had been estimated and got more time from the White House. . . . The Navy is continuing to move aggressively in developing an atomic plane. Its latest measure is a contract to a Los Angeles firm for a study of the type of airfield and equipment needed for such aircraft.

Park Group Public Land Use Project

—by H. G. Heller

A comprehensive plan for the future development and use of nearly 25,000,000 acres of valued public lands has been prepared by the National Park Service and will become known in Washington D. C., on February 8. The occasion will be a dinner tendered jointly by the Secretary of the Interior and the president of the American Automobile Association.

The plan, called "Mission 66," will be presented by Conrad L. Wirth, Director of the National Park Service. As he explains, the program will take until 1966 to complete, a year which is the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the National Park Service.

Objectives

As outlined by Mr. Wirth, Mission 66 is designed to accomplish these seven objectives:

1. Provide an adequate number of modern reasonably priced accommodations, but without encroaching on important park features.
2. Obtain greater participation of private enterprise in providing these accommodations.
3. Minimize concentrations of park visitors and encourage park use over longer period of the year.
4. Encourage better public understanding of natural and historic features by extending the information and guide program.
5. Acquire all lands and rights within park boundaries, and eliminate uses and developments which are contrary to park purposes.
6. Provide adequate housing facilities for park personnel.
7. Serve as the basis of a coordinated plan for a nationwide system of recreational developments, in conjunction with local and state park systems.

Mission 66, which is being submitted to Congress, will have direct bearing on many sections of the country, for the 181 separate areas under jurisdiction of the National Park Service extend from Acadia in Maine westward and southward across the nation, even including areas in the territories of Puerto Rico, Alaska and Hawaii. The complete program and its bearing on individual park areas will be spelled out at the dinner in Washington on February 8.

"Our objective," according to Mr. Wirth, "is to give the American people on this golden anniversary a park system adequate in all ways necessary for their enjoyment and inspiration, a park system so managed and so used that our children and our children's children will enjoy the value of this, their estate."

Time Has Come To Give Lie To Charges That America Practiced Colonialism

One of the most unpopular words in the currency of all languages is colonialism. The impression is being given that colonialism is all bad and that the people of all colonies suffered from their oppressors; that no benefits whatsoever were gained through the great enterprise of establishing and maintaining colonies.

For instance, in Burma, Nikita Khrushchev said: "The colonialists convinced the oppressed peoples that the colonial peoples are unable to administer their countries. This lie was extensively inculcated into the minds of the peoples in order to hold them in submission. But are not the Burmese just as gifted as, say, the Russians or the British? Peoples are not divided into capable or incapable ones. If they are given equal chances, they will achieve success in their development. (Stormy applause.)"

Stormy applause indeed! What about Latvia, Lithuania, Poland? Are they not suffering from the worst kind of colonialism? What about Hungary or Czechoslovakia? And if the Burmese were as capable as the British, why did they never develop into a powerful state as little England did under Elizabeth I?

But these questions were not asked in Burma. They are never asked because when the British, the French, the Dutch control some weak or backward nation, it is called colonialism; but when the Russians seize such a great country as Hungary or East Germany it is called liberation. Does the change of words change the facts? It does if one goes by words not by facts, and so many do just that.

In this same speech in Burma, Khrushchev said:

"... If you need assistance, tell us and we will help you. We will help you with engineers, and we will share our experience with you."

Of course, the United States has been doing all that and more through the Point Four program, but we are shy and reticent. Therefore, we get no credit for what we are doing. We still blow balloons up into the air and circulate pamphlets telling how wicked the Russians are but Khrushchev makes the world his hustings and delivers campaign arguments at every whistle stop in every country that lets him in. He promises heaven on earth and absorbs countries into the Soviet Universal State as though by osmosis, without firing a shot. Therefore, what he practices is not colonialism because Khrushchev and Bulganin are not Clive and Raffles. They are just two Marxists who make stump speeches on liberation and against colonialism.

So Khrushchev said: "I address the generals, officers, and soldiers of the Union of Burma with a friendly wish for a further technical perfection. We, in the same way as you, are compelled to maintain armed forces."

But these questions were not asked in Burma. They are never asked because when the British, the French, the Dutch control some weak or backward nation, it is called colonialism; but when the Russians seize such a great country as Hungary or East Germany it is called liberation. Does the change of words change the facts? It does if one goes by words not by facts, and so many do just that.

The Once Over

Dummies and Jackpots

Quiz shows have reached the point where dummies are not limited to participants. Edgar Bergen has flung Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd and company onto the field of the super jackpot contests.

On a new TV program, $100 a week for life is yours, with a touch of Hollywood, old-time vaudeville and the Elks Snoker. There is this to be said of the new format: UNDER IT THE SHOW WOULD BE FUNNY EVEN IF THE CONTESTANTS DIDN'T SHOW UP!

The hunt for a super jackpot to top all super jackpots has been hot. The entrance of Bergen and his dummies into the act is the talk of show biz and quiz fans. If the fans don't like ventriloquists this could kill quiz programs. But if they do there could be a craze for jackpot shows requiring that you watch a voice-thriller's throat muscles simultaneously with watching a contestant's nerve strain. From our observation of wooden dummies, they can, with notable exceptions, raise the intellectual level of a lot of quiz programs. (There were moments on the Bergen premiere when the dummies seemed comparatively brilliant). The format takes the play away from a contestant and makes him a straight man or sledge for Mortimer Snerd. The performance is always in the realm of ventriloquism. Bergen is so good he could even give the right answers invisibly if the participants knew enough to move their lips and let no sound escape.

There is no telling where the trend may lead. We may encounter a jackpot program using elephants, seals, trained poodles, ballets and acrobats. (That's an idea! . . . An emcee asking questions from a flying trapeze as Mrs. Arabella Swizzle, of Bison City, makes with the answers while turning a triple somersault from her psychiatrist's shoulders) The Bergen pattern makes things easier for losers . . . they can get a laugh, even when dumsily unhappy. There might come a night when a contestant would shoot up with his own DUMMY and give his answers through it, insisting that what is fair for the emcee is fair for the waxworks. In Edgar's format called "Do You Trust Your Wife?" a man and wife appear and the husband decides whether to answer a question or trust his spouse to do so. (It is sure to bust up thousands of homes. If the missus muffs the big dough it's a case of "I overestimated your intelligence," and "You big coward; why didn't you answer it yourself?" all through the night.)

France seems to have succeeded in disposing of good government and substituting amateur wrestling. . . . LaBelle no longer looks like a resolute, vigorous, heroic gal, singing the Marseillaise, but a weak sister, shallow, frivolous and a little cockeyed, crying "My tax aches give me backaches." . . . "The last time I saw Paris, the Poulades were not there." . . . The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are back in their Waldorf super suite, and the Duke announces his latest hobby is gardening, specializing in roses, dahlias and delphiniums. . . .

Teddy's Tavern Remodeled, Refurnished; Is Reopened

THEODORE (Teddy) Williams yesterday reopened his "Teddy's Tavern" at 192 Main St., Stroudsburg, one of the local business operations hardest hit by the Aug. 18-19 flood. The tavern was virtually a complete loss.

Teddy has delayed his opening to permit installation of a completely new, modern set of restaurant and bar facilities.

The entire tavern and kitchen space is new from top to bottom. Everything necessary for restaurant operation has been installed in a sanitary kitchen which will feature all types of Italian foods as well as steaks and chops. A large new walk-in freezer has been installed.

The restaurant-bar section has complete, new flooring, new, comfortable booths, new wall paneling, all in mahogany finish. There is a new bar and new backbar.

The January issue of House & Home features an advertisement by Modern Homes Corp. which highlights the Harvey Huffman development of Birch Acres, near Craig Meadows with Modern Homes.

Recognition of Mr. Huffman's housing development and his promotional material developed by The Daily Record is prominently displayed in the center-piece of the full-page Modern Homes Corp's advertisement.

Howard A. Rockefeller, 25 Club Court, a representative of the New York Life Insurance Company's Scranton branch, is among a top group of agents of the company to qualify for attendance at a special educational conference to be held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City today and tomorrow, according to Dudley Dowell, executive vice president.

In all, nearly 400 leading representatives of New York Life's field force of more than 5,200 agents are expected to attend the meeting. Qualification is based on outstanding sales records during the last three months of 1955.

Richard F. Hagmayer, 205 Wallace St., Stroudsburg, sales manager of the Stroudsburg branch of the Atlantic Refining Co., has been transferred to a similar position at the Reading plant of the company.

Hagmayer took over his new duties this week. His successor here is Joseph Moffitt, who has been working out of Allentown.

The former Stroudsburg manager came here from Bethlehem a year ago last March. The Hagmayers, who have three children, have been active in church and church school work. He was a member of the Kiwanis Club of Stroudsburg. Mrs. Hagmayer has been identified in Girl Scout and other civic activities. They will move to Reading as soon as housing has been afforded.

The honorary Keystone Farm degree was awarded Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. by the Future Farmers of America at special ceremonies at the FFA 27th state convention at Harrisburg. Award was made to PP&L by the Keystone Association of FFA for outstanding service rendered the farm organization.

H. C. Fetterols, chief of agricultural education in the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, and adviser to the Keystone Association of FFA, made the award presentation. Accepting for PP&L was R. P. Jones, the utility's director of agricultural development.

PP&L has long taken an interest in FFA. Through frequent contacts with vocational agriculture departments of area schools, PP&L representatives have been able to give considerable help in FFA projects, especially those involving effective application of electrical equipment to farm work. In this, the company has not only contributed help and knowledge of its personnel, but has

Cadillac

Not Wealthy... Just Wise !

Most people think that the gentleman who owns and drives a new Cadillac must necessarily be blessed with an abundance of this world's goods.

But the truth of the matter is that a great many motorists of relatively modest means—like the happy man you see here—sit at the wheel of the "car of cars."

For wisdom and practicality lead to Cadillac—just as surely as prominence and prosperity!

The Series Sixty-Two Coupe—the beautiful and inspiring motor car pictured above—costs just a few dollars more than many cars in the "medium-price" bracket.

Cadillac's dependability is so great that the car is virtually free from all but the purely routine requirements of service.

A Cadillac stretches a gallon of gasoline over so many miles that it is the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in this regard.

And a Cadillac, according to accurate and authenticated resale records, will retain its value over the years better than any other automobile built and sold in the land.

The conclusion is self-evident: Cadillac ownership is not only wonderful and thrilling—but sound and sensible as well.

Why not stop in soon for a look and a ride?

You'll see the most beautiful Cadillac ever built . . . and drive the finest-performing Cadillac of all time . . . and discover the greatest value in Cadillac history.

That's Cadillac's magical combination for 1956—and it's waiting for you now in our showroom.

State Urges Tree Planting To Put Idle Land To Work

OFFICIALS OF THE Department of Forests and Waters office here yesterday pointed up the need for "putting idle land to work" in this area with plantings of seedling trees and shrubs which may be ordered now at the local office.

The problem of bringing hundreds of pieces of idle land into use was outlined as follows by the foresters:

"As we travel about the countryside we notice many acres of idle land; abandoned fields which are no longer able to or are not producing farm crops; pasture lands which over the years have actually become worn out. There are also steep slopes which may be impractical to plant with farm crops. These are just a few of the prime examples of idle land. Most of these areas should be planted with trees or wildlife shrubs.

Eventually after many, many years, these acreages would grow naturally into some sort of forest growth. However, as a general rule in our locality, short-lived species such as aspen, sunshad and gray birch move in on the areas mentioned. These are not desirable species as timber trees or as wildlife winter cover so much needed in our woodland areas.

Valuable Species

"There is only one practical way to put idle land to producing immediately a valuable crop and that is planting with valuable species.

"Each year that goes by, more and more landowners realize that by planting their idle land with valuable tree species they are turning these lands into assets rather than letting them go along as liabilities.

"It might be well to mention the fact that credit is possible from the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for farmers who are cooperators signed up under the program. From $10 to $15 per 1,000 trees reimbursement is possible but you must first be certified by your local county conservation committee."

Assistant Forester Jacob E. Kintz said, "At present the Department of Forests and Waters has set Feb. 10 as deadline for orders to be in for spring planting." An application blank and a list of available trees can be obtained at the district forester's office, 1081 W. Main St., Stroudsburg.

Keiser Wins 34 Firsts At Farm Show

SO FAR as the Slate Belt and Pocono Mountains areas are concerned Herbert T. Keiser of Bangor ought to win the "top poultry grower" title hands down.

Keiser yesterday racked up another 26 first prizes in the State Farm Show poultry competition in Harrisburg. He had already won eight first awards in previous judging, bringing his total top prizes to 34.

Keiser lives at 539 S. Fourth St., Bangor. Yesterday he was also announced as the winner of 27 additional second place awards, 14 more thirds, three fourths and three fifths. He had previously won four seconds and two fourths for poultry.

The Bangor man is believed to have won more firsts for poultry than any other contestant in the current Farm Show.

Show Prizes Awarded To Area People

AREA RESIDENTS listed as winning prizes in Farm Show events yesterday were the following:

Mrs. Verna Rinker, Stroudsburg RD 1, third prize in nut seedlings category; Lewis F. Nicholas, Bangor RD 2, one second, one third and five fifth prizes for cheviot division entries in the sheep competition.

Past Scenes To Be Revived By Boy Scouts

A SERIES of "flashback" scouting scenes will feature the tribute paid to area scoutmasters at the 38th annual dinner of the Delaware Valley Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, on Feb. 4.

William Turner, tableau chairman, announced yesterday that in addition to the traditional "live" tableau depicting the current Norman Rockwell Boy Scout Calendar, "flashback" scenes showing memorable scouting occasions in the growth of a typical scoutmaster from boyhood to boy leader will be shown. Flashes will include a Tenderfoot Badge presentation, an Eagle Court of Honor, Green Bar Council meeting, Troop camping, Camp Retreat, Parents Night, Scoutmaster Key award presentation, patrol hike and others.

Rodger Horn of Troop 102, Bangor, winner of the Silver Bugle contest, will be the dinner bugler. The contest was sponsored by the Brown Lynch Post of the American Legion, Easton, to select the best Boy Scout bugler in the council. Scout Horn was presented with a silver bugle as the 1955 winner. The dinner will be held in the Hotel Easton. Due to the limited seating capacity, tickets are on an allocation basis this year. Julian K. Harrison, general ticket chairman, said each of the district chairmen has been given unit allocation and that requests for additional tickets will be impossible to grant.

G. Morgan Homewood, Jr., public relations chairman, has appointed Ralph G. Troup, institutional representative of the First Presbyterian Church, Easton, as assistant public relations chairman.

At the present time the most urgent need of the tin mining industry of Malaya is to find new tin-bearing areas to replace those already exhausted or rapidly nearing that stage, experts report.

Tax Director Asks Employers To Rush Forms

BUSINESS firms with large payrolls were asked yesterday by District Director F. P. Graham of the Internal Revenue Service to release 1955 W-2 tax withholding statements to their employees as soon as possible, to help expedite the filing, payment and adjustment of many individual taxpayer returns.

With their W-2s in hand, the director pointed out, thousands of taxpayers will be able to prepare their income tax forms at once and send them in to his office, located in Scranton.

"To hundreds of our citizens," Mr. Graham said, "the withholding tax represents their entire tax indebtedness. In some cases, there may be a small overpayment or underpayment. Most of these citizens whose income is from wages or salaries of under $5,000 for the year can easily prepare their own income tax return. Form 1040A, by copying the wages and withholding tax shown on the W-2 and filling in a few other lines. We'd appreciate the cooperation of taxpayers in getting all such forms in to us as soon as possible. That will help us take care of the heavy work load later during the filing period."

Mr. Graham also called attention to the fact that Jan. 16 will be this year's deadline for paying final installments on 1955 estimated taxes. Jan. 15, the normal deadline, falls on a Sunday, so that the succeeding day gives taxpayers one extra day of grace.

Jan. 16 is also the last day to amend a prior declaration of estimated tax to avoid possible penalties for any under estimation.

Estimated Tax Installment Due Jan. 16

MONDAY, Jan. 16, is the final day for the payment of the final 1955 estimated income tax installment, it was announced yesterday by Francis P. Graham, director of the Scranton District, Internal Revenue Service.

The director said that while the final day is normally Jan. 15, it has been set back to the following day because the 15th is on a Sunday. An exception is made, however, for taxpayers who file their final income tax return on or before Jan. 31.

In such cases, the rules are that a declaration or amended declaration which would otherwise be due on Jan. 16, need not be filed if, on or before Jan. 31, (or, in the case of farmers, Feb. 15, 1956) the taxpayer files his 1955 income tax return and pays in full the balance of taxes due.

Taxpayers are further reminded that estimated tax returns for 1956 must be filed not later than April 16. The estimated tax for 1956 may be paid in full with your declaration, or in equal installments on or before April 16, June 15, Sept. 15, and Jan. 15, 1957. The first installment must accompany the declaration.

Movie Personalities Donate Talent Worth Millions To Father Peyton's Radiocast

By George W. Cornell
NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Despite its reputation for worldliness, Hollywood today gives forth with some of the country's most openhearted religious impulses.

Outsiders get all the lowdown on the film celebrities' sins, but it takes an insider to know their virtues. "So many of them are noble, noble people, who love God and fulfill his commands and wishes," said the Rev. Patrick Peyton, who probably has worked with more of them than any other clergyman.

As for the headline-engendered impression of Hollywood as a realm of hard hearts and loose living, Father Peyton shook his head ruefully. "To me, that's wrong. I've found the opposite to be the case."

Blanket Condemnations Ruled Out

"You can't make these blanket condemnations on the basis of isolated, highly publicized incidents, when so many, many of the stars are God's dear blessed friends, who love and serve Him despite all the pull and drag to be indifferent."

Father Peyton, leader of a worldwide "Family Rosary" movement to re-establish daily group prayer in the home, has been dealing closely with film notables for eight years, getting them to donate their talents to religious programs.

"I can't recall a single turn-down," he said.

"Their wonderful generosity, often at inconvenience to themselves, is a beautiful thing. I'll praise them forever."

With phenomenal success, Father Peyton since 1947 has recruited leading movie players—some 250 altogether—to appear, gratis, on his weekly, non-denominational Family Theater over the Mutual radio network.

Outstanding Contribution

To anyone buying this talent, it would cost millions, Father Peyton said he doesn't know of any other profession that has given more bounteously, in value of service. How does he get them to do it?

"It's not for me to take the credit," he said. "It's God's beautiful, powerful help."

Father Peyton, 46, a towering, 6-foot-3 Roman Catholic priest with an infectious warmth and a soft lilt of native Ireland in his voice, also has produced a series of television films and is working on more.

His unusual career has made him an intimate of many screen actors and actresses, often a guest in their homes and friend of their families.

Big Names

Some of the stars—Catholics, Protestants and Jews—who have appeared free on his shows include:

Gregory Peck, Irene Dunne, Edward G. Robinson, Loretta Young, Ann Blyth, Maureen O'Hara, Margaret Sullivan, Jane Wyatt, Jimmy Durante, Jack Benny, Robert Young, Bob Hope, James Stewart, Maureen O'Sullivan, Tyrone Power, Charles Boyer, Rosalind Russell, Jack Haley, Ethel Barrymore, Charles Bickford, Margaret O'Brien, Jeanne Crain and Bing Crosby.

Although the big names donate services free, Father Peyton is kept hopping to raise around $100,000 a year to pay other costs of the shows. This comes from individuals, business firms and organizations.

Second Reports Due Tonight In YMCA Drive

EVERY WORKER in the 1956 membership campaign of the Monroe County YMCA is urged to be present for the report meeting at the new building tonight at 6.

That was the request made yesterday by the co-chairmen, Alex L. Bensinger and Horace G. Walters. Reports tonight will indicate the progress of the drive for 500 members said the two leaders.

In the meantime John R. Wilson, general secretary, cordially invited the people of the county to visit the new building and see personally the fine facilities afforded for all classes of membership, boys and girls, men and women of all age groups. The swimming pool, gymnasium, various meeting rooms, dormitory and other facilities are included and show the value of membership in the organization, it was pointed out.

While the result of the canvass for members to date is not known one solicitor said he took eight cards and every one named on them took out a membership.

Personal Contacts Urged
Division leaders and team captains are urging their co-workers to make every endeavor today to contact every person for whom they took out cards.

After tonight's meeting workers will be permitted to solicit any person regardless of the original cards taken out. Those missed are asked to call the Y office for information concerning taking out a membership.

Special prizes will be presented to the person bringing in the largest number of members, largest sum of cash and also recognizing other achievements during the course of the campaign now rapidly drawing to a close.

The final report meeting will take place Monday night, Jan. 16, at 6.

Writers Open 1956 Season

OPENING the 1956 season, members of the Pocono Mountains Writers Workshop met Wednesday night at the home of President John M. Price, Stroudsburg, and proceeded with the course being taught by Mrs. Frances Kiffen of East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Kiffen announced the assignment for the meeting next Wednesday night at the Price home. The purpose of this number will be to test the students' sense of continuity of meaning and "feeling" for sentence construction. Each student is required to take a 500-word composition, which is completely garbled and confused, and straighten it out avoiding all tendency for rhymed endings and tricks of meter.

Joseph Kushner, a veteran member, presented for criticism a short story along the science-fiction type and most of the meeting was devoted to its consideration.

One new member, Mrs. Fred E. Hart of Greentown was introduced. Mrs. Kiffen earlier this week addressed a group of student writers at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. They are taking the English course at the college.

Mrs. Kiffen reported that the students are taking much interest in the activities of the workshop, and President Price suggested that representatives of the class be invited to attend sessions of the writers.

School Problem Hard To Solve

By Arthur Edson
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—In one sentence today Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom pretty well summed up this nation's reactions to one of its toughest problems.

"There seems to be a wide difference of opinion," Folsom told his news conference, on how, and how much, federal help should be given public schools. "But," he said, "there seems to be an agreement that something should be done."

The problem is easy to state, if not to solve. In many areas youngsters pour into schools faster than it has been possible to build classrooms in which to put them.

Many Problems
President Eisenhower today sent a message to Congress suggesting that the federal government help solve the problem by picking up a part of the tab. Folsom called a news conference to explain the administration's stand.

Patently he went over the many problems. Should money be given school districts that aren't really hard up but have been dragging their fiscal heels? How can the money be used to encourage the states to do more on their own?

What about aid to higher education? Should research be encouraged? Why aren't more youngsters taking, say, mathematics in high school?

And so on and on. Finally someone asked what may be the toughest question of all: What happens to this proposed aid in states that threaten to abolish their school systems rather than to have racial integration in their classrooms?

"A matter for the courts," Folsom said softly. To similar questions, he said this was something the lawyers will have to handle. Once he said, "I don't know."

MISS JOYCE RUTT explains plans for the Mothers March of Dimes which will be held in Monroe County Jan. 31. It's hoped that the mothers will raise a county-wide quota of $7,000 on that day. Listening to the plans are (left and right) Richard R. Fredenberg, county March of Dimes campaign chairman, and Joseph H. Small, county chairman for the National Polio Foundation. Democrats To Launch Drive For Congressional Candidates

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12 (AP)—A statewide recruiting drive for Democratic candidates for Congress and the Legislature will open in Scranton tomorrow night.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said the session will be one of six held throughout the state prior to the Jan. 27 meeting in Harrisburg of the Democratic State Committee.

"Special emphasis will be placed on registration and get-out-the-vote techniques to capitalize on the Democratic party's political pre-eminence in the state," said Barr in a statement.

The regional meetings with local Democratic leaders also will see discussion of candidates for delegates and alternates to the Democratic national convention at Chicago next July and for membership on state and county Democratic committees.

In addition to Scranton, other meetings were scheduled for Harrisburg, Jan. 18; Reading, Jan. 19; Oil City and Pittsburgh, Jan. 20; and Williamsport, Jan. 25.

Shares Extend Gains Despite Late Selling

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—The stock market extended its recovery movement today with gains of around two points marked up by some shares.

The upswing, which started yesterday, lost some of its momentum in the afternoon, however, and selling in the final hour reduced the size of most advances.

Buying of motor shares—depressed in recent weeks—helped the market move higher in the morning. Later in the day, the aircrafts advanced as Defense Secretary Wilson stressed the growing importance of planes and missiles to the nation's defense program.

Average Up $1.10
The Associated Press 60-stock average closed with a gain of $1.10 at 178.30. The industrials were up $2.20, the rails 60 cents and the utilities 20 cents.

There were 639 advances and 300 declines—compared with 704 advances and 234 declines yesterday. Issues traded in totaled 1,172 against 1,184 yesterday. New highs for 1955-56 numbered 15 and new lows six.

Volume totaled 2,330,000 shares, up 20,000 from yesterday.

Groups mainly in the plus column included the steels, rubbers, motors, retails, aircrafts, oils and electrical equipments. Other sections were narrowly mixed.

For the third day in a row, General Motors topped the most active list, moving up $\frac{1}{4}$ to 24 $\frac{1}{2}$ on 64,900 shares.

Higher prices were the rule on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 780,000 shares.

Car Strikes Pole When Driver Dozes

A CAR operated by Joseph Gaycheck, 35, Atlanta, Ga., crashed into a utility pole at 12:15 a.m. yesterday on Route 12 near the Lilly Pond Lodge in Saylorsburg.

State police said the driver's car went off the highway after he dozed off at the wheel. The vehicle struck a pole belonging to the Metropolitan Edison Co., causing about $300 damage to the pole and wires.

Gaycheck escaped injury, State Police said.

Yacht Adrift In Atlantic

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 12 (AP)—There may be a serviceable 64-foot schooner floating around in the ocean waiting for someone to claim her.

Late Wednesday Coast Guard headquarters received a radio message from the American tanker Esso Rochester that she had passed a yacht adrift 90 miles due east of Cape Hatteras, N.C., with no one aboard.

Coast Guard officials expressed belief the vessel is the schooner Manitou which was abandoned in heavy seas off the Carolina coast Tuesday.

The yacht's owner was listed as Herbert Hayes of Greenwich, Conn.

Boost Tomato Exports
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12 (AP)—Mexican farmers figure on shipping a record 10,000 carloads of tomatoes worth 30 million dollars to the United States this year.

Crop losses due to cold weather in the Southern states are expected to step up demands on Mexican production.

"Puddle-jumper" Driving is

These wintry, rainy, puddly months may be fun for kids—but for drivers they spell D-A-N-G-E-R!

Expert drivers know it's just plain crazy to drive with smearing windshield wipers or to try to "make time" on wet, winter roads. But not "kid stuff" drivers!

These dashing show-offs rush recklessly along, forgetting that puddles often hide axle-breaking potholes . . . or that rain-slicked pavements can send cars skidding off the road merely from a sharp turn or sudden braking.

Winter driving offers hazards enough without childish drivers adding to the roadside toll. Maybe they'd drive like adults if they knew how surely they were numbering their own days.

Workshop At DAR; Dunning To Speak

The annual DAR Workshop will be held on Monday afternoon at 2:15 when Jacob Stroud Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, meets at the Stroud Community House.

Roger Dunning, principal of the Stroud Union elementary schools, will be the guest speaker. He will talk on American History courses in the Stroud Union Schools and suggest ways in which the DAR could stimulate interest in American history among the pupils.

Mrs. Willard Rice, Eastern Director of the Pennsylvania DAR, will direct the discussion of committee projects for the year. Complete reports will be given by the chairmen of the standing committees of the chapter, and Mrs. Rice will relate them to state and national projects.

Scheduled to report are Mrs. Ashton Burrows, American Indian; Mrs. Edwin C. Hughes, Americanism; Mrs. Claude Leister, approved schools; Mrs. Floyd Bachman, conservation; Mrs. L. V. Rundle, correct use of the flag; Mrs. Robert Reed, good citizenship; Mrs. Fred Davis, finance; Mrs. Paul Fellenner, genealogical records;

Mrs. G. Raymond Hood, national and civil defense; Mrs. Richard Fredenberg, press relations; Mrs. Howard Flagler, program; Mrs. Herbert Bonser, Red Cross; Mrs. Fred Rhodes, transportation; Mrs. Bernard Peters, ways and means; Mrs. A. A. Holbrook, yearbook; Mrs. Marvin Abel, music; Mrs. W. R. Erickson, hostesses;

Mrs. William Wells, Jr., junior membership; Mrs. Allen Zaborik, magazine; Mrs. Nelson Beers, membership and Mrs. James Groner, moving pictures, radio, and television.

Following the meeting refreshments will be served by the hostesses with Mrs. J. Nelson Westbrook and Mrs. Mary DePuy Cottle as co-chairmen; Mrs. William H. Heitler Jr., Mrs. Milo Kaseley, Mrs. Randall H. Roberts and Miss Lou Shafer.

The Ariston Bible Class of East Stroudsburg Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. Oscar King, Crystal St., Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

After a December recess to go listen to Christmas entertainments, the PTA program chairmen seem to have outdone themselves this month in providing stimulating programs. But then all our program chairmen are pretty clever people.

That fact was brought home sharply these last few days when going back over the papers of the last year looking for material for our progress edition, I kept stopping to read about this program or that.

We certainly cover the field of human knowledge in the course of a year through club programs. Literature, current events, legislation, drama, history, sociology, psychology, poetry, finance, natural history, horticulture, travel, home decoration, civics, politics—we'll name your subject and we probably had a program on it.

Except I can't remember mathematics, pure that is, or much pure science, either. But otherwise we've had a very educational time for ourselves.

I can remember when we weren't nearly so learned, and social meetings were much more popular. Every organization always had a card party or two during the year. Wonder what ever happened to card players? Television watchers, now maybe.

Well, anyway, they'll have a chance to get back into stride with that big triple card party of the Woman's Club coming up. You know it will be a refreshing change, at that, to do something just for fun.

Double Doubles on a double honeymoon are Anthony and Carmella Masi and Daniel and Rose Masi after a double wedding in their home city of White Plains, N.Y., shown here with Peter Rossi, host at Pocono Gardens. The Masi brothers are identical twins, born in Italy and are both cabinet makers. Their brides are also twins. Of the thousands of couples honeymooning at Pocono Gardens, these are the first double, double twins to register.

Local Nurse Passes State Board Exams

Miss Lois E. LaBarre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond LaBarre of 30 Stemple St., East Stroudsburg, has received notification that she has passed the state board examination in nursing.

Miss LaBarre is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1952, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing, Philadelphia. She is currently a member of the nursing staff of that institution.

Little League Mothers To Meet Monday

Stroudsburg Little League Mothers plan to get a headstart on the baseball season by holding a meeting this Monday night at 8 at the YMCA in Stroudsburg.

Most immediate plans will concern an entertainment to be given for all Little League players sometime in February. The group will also discuss a special fund raising project, the details of which will be made public later.

Mothers of all boys in the Little League or who may be in the Little League next year, are invited to attend this meeting.

Water Gap WSCS Has Birthday Party Meeting

Delaware Water Gap — There were 20 members of the Women's Society of Christian Service meeting held this week at the home of Mrs. Francis Osborne, celebrating the birthday of all the members. A big birthday cake was featured in their honor.

A special welcome was given Mrs. Ida Shinn, one of the older members, who came from her home in Easton to attend the party.

During the business meeting plans were made for a Kaffee Klatch to be held January 17 at the home of Mrs. Edna Brochman and for a Washington's birthday party on February 12.

Marinate asparagus (fresh-canned or canned) after you have drained them, in a tangy French dressing. Serve on salad greens and garnish with rice hard-cooked eggs. To "rice" the eggs, force them through a small fine strainer with a teaspoon.

Psychologist, Play For PTA Meeting Mon.

A reading of an American Theater Wing Community Play and a talk by Miss H. Eloise Bryan, clinical psychologist for the Stroud Union School District, will mark the meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association for the East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools on Monday night at 8 in the senior high school auditorium.

Miss Bryan will speak on "Mental Health" and there will be open discussion afterward.

The play is "New Fountains" by Lee Gilmore. It is sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and deals with the problem of a polio-stricken teenager and the attitude of her parents and friends toward her physical impairment. Taking part will be Mrs. Spencer Cramer, Mrs. Lawrence Green, Miss Mary Jane Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Clark.

Following the discussion of the problems presented in the play, refreshments will be served in the library with Mrs. Raymond Footista as chairman of the hostess committee.

The meeting will begin promptly at 8 p.m. and all parents and teachers are invited.

Anatomink PTA Hears Of Rheumatic Fever

Anatomink — Parents of the Anatomink Parent-Teachers Association at their meeting on Tuesday night at the school heard Dr. M. J. Leitner, pathologist at the General Hospital, who spoke on rheumatic fever.

In acute attacks, he said, prolonged bed rest is the most important step to prevent heart damage. He also discussed the value of taking penicillin tablets by mouth for an indefinite period, perhaps for years, to prevent "strep" throat which may lead to a recurrence of rheumatic fever.

Diagnosis of rheumatic fever is difficult to make, he said, and may require a number of laboratory and blood tests, electrocardiograms and even a period of observation in the hospital, he said.

Dr. Leitner spoke in connection with a film, "The Valiant Heart," provided by the Monroe County Heart Committee.

Mrs. Addie Weidman presided at the business meeting. It was announced that there had been a 31 per cent increase in membership of the PTA since the last meeting and that 72 per cent of the parents now belong to the organization.

Harry Anton, principal, explained the new fire alarm system which was recently installed in the school building.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Weidman's room, and refreshments and a social time followed the meeting.

You think YOU have troubles! How would you feel if you were a woman a bit on the hippy or downright heavy side, working for the Chicago Election Board, and had just received orders to leave your girdle at home for the next three weeks? Bet you'd be pretty angry . . . depressed . . . rebellious and frustrated. And if you were a man employee who had to survey the sloppy results each day, I'll wager you wouldn't feel much better. Only one thing good can come of the edict — a deeper appreciation of the beauty that comes into our lives, whether we admit it or not, the minute we, and our feminine neighbors, are tucked into the right garment.

Not that the new garments merely create beauty! They are thoroughly and devastatingly beautiful in their own right. Years ago when I saw my older relatives yanking themselves into heavy cotton harnesses, bristling with stays and heavy corsets that zigzagged back and forth around metal knobs like drunken sailors weaving in and out around telephone poles, it never occurred to me that I would ever go in rhapsodies over a foundation. At five or so, I looked on the corset with the same distaste I reserved for pictures of the guillotine, whipping post and slave ship. It was an instrument of torture. Today my outlook has changed. I walk through our corset department and stop with admiration before the new Formfit garments of pink nylon, so sheer they might be chiffon . . . so lacy with their delicate embroidery they might be worked for a princess or a queen—and my heart beats high with yearning. I move on to the black garments, also by Formfit, with their over-all embroidery of maple leaves. Here is glamour . . . too lovely to be hidden. This is allure, excitement, luxury personified!

Aside from all this material beauty, and the magic wand a well-fitted garment waves over a poorly assembled figure, there is still another big argument in favor of wearing a girdle. It seems that when a woman is wearing one, it's impossible to tell whether she's lying or telling the truth. That's why since lie detector tests are being given—the 96 female employees of Chicago's election board are to appear bulging at the seams. Girdles, we are advised, interfere with a woman's rate of breathing—something that must be measured exactly for an accurate test. So you see, girls, when the squeeze is on, it's difficult to say whether or not a woman is concealing something besides extra poundage. As a matter of fact, if a woman has the RIGHT girdle, she can almost get away with murder!

Guess I've already mentioned the wonderful buy on gloves to be found right this minute in Laura Fabell's department. But Laura asks me to remind you that there are only 75 pairs left. These come in all colors and bear famous brand names. Also they are of lovely, durable fabrics that will go smartly into spring and summer. Values to 2.95 may now be found at 1.00. Two other excellent buys are offered in the same department. For boys and girls there are 430 pairs of cotton socks at just 19¢ a pair—values to 60¢. These represent the easiest way of saving 50¢ I've yet discovered. And there are 178 pairs of nylon hosiery (values to 1.95) at 69¢ or 3 for 2.00. Now you see, it DID pay you to read this morning's column, didn't it?

East Stroudsburg Fights Nazareth Quintet For Third Place

Both Clubs Seek Win

Number Four

EAST Stroudsburg and Nazareth will wage a battle for third place in the Lehigh-Northampton Basketball League today when the arch foes come to blows on the N. Courtland St. hardwood. Only one-half game separates the rivals of long standing in the current flag race.

Junior varsity action is listed for 6:30 p. m., while the main event will take place at approximately 8 p. m.

East Stroudsburg is currently holding third place in the standings with three wins and one defeat, while Nazareth is next in line with three favorable decisions and two of the unfavorable variety. Eastburg has an overall mark of six wins and two setbacks.

The Cavaliers have defeated Wilson Borough, Coplay and Pen Argyl, while bowing to Fountain Hill, 72-39. Fountain Hill also took the measure of Nazareth by a 63-61 count in overtime.

Coach Dick Forster announced last night that he would stick with the same lineup that opened hostilities against Pen Argyl on Tuesday of this week.

Starters
King Beers and Co-captain Danny Marvin will be at the forward posts, while Jim Kimler handles the center chores. Dale Metzgar and Co-captain Dick Gray will be in the guard slots.

Harry Miller and Bob Notz are other members of the N. Courtland St. squad virtually certain of seeing action in tonight's contest.

East Stroudsburg went through a long workout on Wednesday and held a light drill for an hour yesterday.

Other Lehigh-Northampton League games today will feature Fountain Hill against Wilson Borough, Hellertown against Bangor and Parkland against Pen Argyl.

The Cavaliers return to the hardwood wars next Tuesday against Hellertown, on the latter's home court. Eastburg is home with Bangor next Friday.

Floyd Regains Scoring Lead

By The Associated Press

FURMAN'S Darrell Floyd is back on top of the college basketball scoring list and if he can stay there, he'll join a small but distinguished group of sharpshooters.

Floyd, who passed Ohio State's Robin Freeman in mid-January a year ago and went on to win the major college scoring title, moved out in front of the Ohio State ace last week when he scored 111 points in three games. Freeman, leader for four straight weeks, tallied 65 in two games.

Two Times

The only two-time champions since NCAA statistics have been kept were George Mikan of DePaul, 1945-46, and Furman's Frank Selvy, 1952-54.

Floyd had an average of 33.5 points a game for eight games through Jan. 9 and Freeman had a 33.3 average for ten games.

Guild Prexy Holds Fort

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 12 (AP)—The President of the Western New York Boxing Managers Guild said today the organization was still in business, despite resignations of many of its best-known members.

"I'm not resigning," said Joe Dorflein, scanning reports that showed all other officers of the local guild had announced they were resigning.

Dorflein said yesterday that the campaign of state Athletic Commissioner Julius Helfand against the Boxing Guild of New York did not affect the Western New York Guild.

Dorflein said today he was calling a meeting of guild officers here, but there was no indication how many would attend.

Stroudsburg Squad To Invade Palmerton Battle Grounds

STRODSBURG High goes against the power of the Lehigh Valley Basketball League today when the Mountaineers oppose Palmerton, on the latter's home hardwood. Palmerton is the defending champion and is currently tied for first place with Northampton.

Junior varsity action today is carded for 6:45 p.m., while the main event takes over the center of the stage at 8:15 p.m.

Palmerton, coached by "Win" Evans, is currently riding a win streak of three games and as yet hasn't tasted defeat. Northampton is featuring a similar record.

Stroudsburg is currently deadlocked with Lehigh for the seventh spot in the standings, having failed to win in three trips to the starting gate. The Mountaineers have suffered successive setbacks at the hands of Whitehall, Slatington and Northampton in league play.

Counting all games played this season the pupils of Coach John Kupiec have won twice and suffered six reversals.

Kupiec reported last night that his forces have looked better in recent practices and that he would probably throw a man-to-man defense against the Bombers tonight, for at least a portion of the game.

The Stroudsburg coach was unable to announce a starting lineup last night, but revealed that nine players will be used from time to time in the contest. The list includes Doug Shook, Tom Savidge, Don Hickey, Francis "Sonny" Dieber, Doug Nichols, Don "Uckie" Setzer, Jim Welsh, Al Driebe and Ted Williams.

Palmerton took the Mountaineers into camp on two occasions last season. The first win was that famous 39-32 "freeze" on the Stroudsburg court, in which Palmerton held a 30-26 lead at halftime. At Palmerton the Bombers rolled to a 98-53 victory.

Other Lehigh Valley League games today will pit Catasauqua against Lehigh, while Emmaus faces Northampton and Slatington and Whitehall battle at Catasauqua.

Stroudsburg returns to action at Emmaus on Tuesday and then returns home against Lehigh on next Friday.

New York Action To Be Aired By NBA

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP)—The National Boxing Assn.'s Executive Committee meets here Saturday in a regularly scheduled session which is expected to give full backing to Julius Helfand's smashing of the New York Boxing Managers' Guild.

However, NBA President Lou Radzienda of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, said that while there was no doubt the NBA would "do something" about following up on non-member New York's lead, "the question is how to fit any similar platform into each state's laws."

Helfand, chairman of the New York commission, was invited by Radzienda to attend Saturday's meeting but wrote that because of current developments it was impossible for him to be there.

Telegrams

In New York, Helfand said he had received "some" resignations by wire from members of the Boxing Guild of New York. His order to "resign or lose your license" has a Jan. 16 deadline.

Helfand declined to comment on the Guild's action last night in recommending that members licensed in New York quit the guild but that the organization remain in existence pending a court test of Helfand's order.

Radzienda said that while the various NBA members are just as interested as Helfand in ridding boxing of undesirable, archaic codes hamper some.

Schedule

While the New York boxing development mainly will occupy the NBA's oratory Saturday, the agenda also includes proposals to change the NBA's 10-point "must" scoring system and NBA by-laws.

Radzienda said the current NBA scoring method—not followed by all states—requires "too many figures to add" with subsequent confusions. He has in mind a 5-point "must" in which a round would be scored 5-4 or 5-3 for an advantage and 5-5 for a draw.

Gray's Court Machine Spurts To Down Kresgeville, 76-60

KRESGEVILLE—Gray's Chevrolet tightened its hold on first place in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League last night with a 76-60 victory over Kresgeville, here on the Poik High hardwood.

The win was the third without a loss for the pace setters, while Kresgeville's third straight setback without a victory dropped last night's host into the cellar of the standings.

Kresgeville threw a real scare into the Tannersville contingent before it went down to defeat.

The home team, powered by Henry "Hank" Kreger and Dick Serfass, jumped off to a 19-16 lead at the end of the first 10 minutes. But, the visiting squad fought back to hold a 15-12 upper hand in the second period and earn a 31-31 deadlock at the halfway mark.

Gray's squad proved too strong in the second half, rolling up a 22-13 advantage in the third period and a 23-16 edge during the last 10 minutes of play to make certain of victory.

The winning contingent ran up a 31-24 edge in field goals and converted 11 of 26 foul shots. Kresgeville found the range on 12 of 28 free throws.

Ray Steele led the winning attack with 16 points, but Dick Pennington, Jack Sommers, Jim Frailley and Tom Phillips also hit in double figures. Kreger and Serfass paced Kunkleton with 17 and 16 markers respectively.

The next Pocono Mountains League tussle on the schedule will pit Al Bessecker's Diner against Pocono Lake tomorrow. The game will be held on the Tobyhanna Township High court, Pocono Pines, at 8:15 p. m.

The Slaters will play at Coplay next Tuesday and at East Stroudsburg a week from today.

Duquesne Coach Denies Cage Rumors

By Joe Bradis

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12 (AP)—There's talk of Duquesne University de-emphasizing basketball and coach Dudley Moore heading for another job with brighter prospects.

The rumor mart—particularly in this steel city—has Moore leaving Duquesne within a year. One of the schools mentioned is Notre Dame, another Pitt.

"Utterly ridiculous," asserted Moore today. "It's just rumors, nothing else. There's nothing to it. It must be embarrassing to coaches at the various schools. Anyway I know of no job open."

Contract

"It's just talk, plain talk," declared Lou (Doc) Skender, the round athletic director at Duquesne. "Why would Ducey want to leave? Didn't he sign a three-year contract in 1955?"

"We have no intentions of de-emphasizing. In fact we never over-emphasized, so why should we de-emphasize. There's been no change in our policy."

"If we were de-emphasizing don't you think the first place it would show would be in our schedule? And if you look at our 1956-57 schedule you'll see there's no de-emphasizing."

This year's Duquesne schedule includes DePaul, Marquette, Loyola (Los Angeles), Holy Cross, LaSalle, Fordham, Dayton, Cincinnati, Bowling Green, Niagara, St. Bonaventure, Quantico Marines and Temple.

Next year's schedule, although not official, will include Villanova, DePaul, St. Bonaventure, Niagara, Temple, Cincinnati, Dayton and others.

But one thing Moore and Skender don't deny is a shortage of top-flight talent at Duquesne and the dwindling of athletic scholarship aid.

Moore explained: "There's been no change in our recruitment policy. We just haven't gotten the players. Some we had either flunked out, transferred or quit."

Schoendienst, Musial Sign

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12 (AP)—Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst, a $125,000 package of baseball talent, today signed their 1956 contracts with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The joint signing was announced at a news conference by August A. Busch Jr., Cardinal president.

Both players expressed satisfaction with the terms of their one-year contracts, reported the same as last season when Musial drew about $80,000 and Schoendienst $45,000.

Paces Pack

Musial, 35, beginning his 14th season with the Cardinals, has won most of the league's batting laurels during his career. He had a .319 batting average last season.

Schoendienst, who'll turn 33 next month, is regarded as the classiest fielding second baseman in the majors.

The redhead, who is starting his 12th season with St. Louis, slumped in his batting average last season to .268, compared to his lifetime average of .289.

Helfand Aims Charges At Promoters

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—State Athletic Commissioner Julius Helfand aimed specific charges today at promoters of the Monday night televised fights at St. Nicholas Arena and announced continuing disintegration of the New York Managers Guild.

Helfand filed eight specific charges against Tex Sullivan, matchmaker, and Willie Gilzenberg, treasurer of the London Sporting Club, and seven charges against the corporation itself.

He ordered Sullivan and Gilzenberg to appear before the commission Jan. 19 to show cause why their licenses as promoters in New York should not be revoked.

The main charges were that Sullivan and Gilzenberg associated with known criminals and, in attempting to move their enterprise to Baltimore last week, sought to hamper the state Athletic Commission's efforts.

Large Number

Helfand's office at the same time announced that 29 members of the once-defiant New York Managers Guild had resigned and more withdrawals were expected.

Among those to leave the body, which Helfand had ordered banned effective Jan. 16, were Willie Ketchum, manager of ex-lightweight champion Jimmy Carter; Bobby Gleason, who handles Cuban heavyweight contender Nino Valdes; Hymie Wailman, Jimmy DeAngelo and Jimmy White.

"We feel sure we're doing nothing wrong," said Sullivan, speaking for himself and Gilzenberg, "and there's nothing in the charges we're afraid to answer. We'll be glad to appear and give the public our side of the story."

Invitation

All umpires will be asked to attend the Thursday, February 9 meeting of the circuit, at which time definite plans for the school will be announced.

Frank Thomas, past president of the league, has been placed in charge of arrangements for the school.

San Francisco Names Albert Head Coach

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12 (AP)—Frankie Albert, 35, who dazzled the college football world as its first modern T-formation quarterback, today was named coach of the San Francisco 49ers with whom he starred for seven years.

"I intend to put a colorful, representative team on the field," Albert, who never has been a head coach before, told a news conference.

Announcement

Co-owner Vic Morabito announced the appointment of Albert to succeed Norman (Red) Strader.

Strader was fired Dec. 19 after just one year. Albert was one of his four assistants. The duration of Albert's contract and its terms were undisclosed.

POCONO High, the team that displayed plenty of power while rolling to three straight basketball victories in the Monroe County League, is now having more than its share of troubles. Coach Harry Werkheiser and company have suffered two straight defeats at the hands of Chestnut Hill and Coolbaugh and instead of breezing along in first place the blue and white color bearers are now in a three-way tie for the number two spot in the standings.

Coolbaugh, a team that Pocono defeated earlier in the campaign, 64-37, came back on Tuesday night to hang a 47-43 licking on the Werkheisermen. But, the Monroe County League race is still a wide open affair, with five clubs still in the running. Coolbaugh is currently pacing the drive with five wins and one defeat, while Barrett and Chestnut Hill, the defending champion, are tied with Pocono for second place.

Pocono's troubles all aren't on the playing court. Werkheiser was without the services of Pat Peduto on Tuesday because of a death in the family. Norbert Vishnesky, a reserve, suffered a leg injury while ice skating and is out of action for an undisclosed length of time. Chestnut Hill was at full strength against Tobyhanna Township on Tuesday for the first time this season. The defending title holder, coached by Bill Frear, has been slapped down by a series of injuries.

Today's scheduled basketball game between Polk and Chestnut Hill has been postponed, as has a meeting of the same two foes on Friday, February 3. Larry Souder, Polk center, will play in the District Band today and in the State Band exercises on February 3. These games will be played at the end of the current campaign. Polk owns a victory over Chestnut Hill in their only meeting thus far this season.

Barrett and Chestnut Hill have a game to make up, as do Pocono and Polk. Dick Farley, assistant golf pro at Shawnee Inn and Country Club, was a spectator at the Stroudsburg - Northampton basketball game at the W. Main St. gymnasium on Tuesday. Dick, who usually spends his winters in California, will be at Shawnee for the balance of the cold season. Reports indicate Charley German, who returns to East Stroudsburg State Teachers College this month, will have to shed some pounds before renewing his basketball career. Charley reportedly gained 24 pounds since last season.

The soccer match between ESSTC and McMillan University, as reported in this column the other day, didn't materialize as expected. ESSTC hasn't received an answer from the Canadian school concerning a proposed meeting. But, the Warriors will play Brockport Teachers, undefeated last season, next autumn. The two teams will play at Brockport this year and on Normal Hill in 1957. Coach of the men's swimming team at Lock Haven Teachers College is a woman. Her name is Mrs. L. S. Dullen.

Lock Haven dropped a 59-25 swimming decision to the Warriors on Wednesday. Jim Parker, who has only one more semester of eligibility on the Cheyney basketball squad, isn't in action now, but will return for the second semester. ESSTC plays Cheyney twice during the second semester. Parker, who has drawn the attention of the professionals, is one of the top performers in the entire Pennsylvania State Teachers College Basketball Conference.

Three former managers were in attendance at last Saturday's banquet staged for the Saylorburg baseball team. The trio consisted of George Budge, the club's first pilot, "Woody" Butz and Gilbert Overpeck. New team secretaries in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League for the coming season include Bob Titus, West End; Harold Jacobson, Stroud; Luther Gower, Lake Harmony; Sharon "Ott" Peechatka, Tannersville, and Irene Hawk, Kunkletown. Stewart Allison Smith was recently named manager of the Kunkletown club for the coming campaign.

Annandale, N. J. Farms, coached by ESSTC graduate Joe Tichy, won its sixth straight basketball game recently with a 77-72 decision over the Easton Comets. Unbeaten Annandale has also won over High Bridge High, Annandale A. C., Oxford Lions, Blairtown High and the Morton Street Boys Club of Newark. During the run of six straight Annandale has averaged 70 points a game, while holding the opposition to 57.

ESSTC Cagers Oppose Panzer On Home Court Today

New Jersey Five Carries Fine Mark

EAST Stroudsburg State Teachers College will meet one of its toughest basketball opponents of the current campaign today when powerful Panzer College invades the Normal Hill gymnasium. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to watch the arch rivals in their only battle of the year.

Panzer will come to town with revenge as its goal, as the Warriors were only one of four teams to defeat Panzer last season when tonight's visitors won more than 20 games.

Last year's Panzer squad defeated ESSTC on the former's home court, but with a NAIA Tournament bid a certainty, the Warriors rose to their full fury and dethroned the visiting New Jersey squad in a surprise 88-81 reversal on the same Normal Hill court on which the two squads play today.

Charley German, who returns to ESSTC for the second semester of basketball, tallied 38 points against Panzer in last season's second contest. German won't be eligible to play with the Warriors again until next month.

Seven Victories
Panzer will bring an outstanding record of seven victories and only one defeat to town today.

While the home team has won twice and lost three times in five trips to the hardwood, ESSTC, fresh from an 80-58 verdict over Montclair, owns a favorable nod over West Chester. The Warriors have fallen before Millersville, Trenton and Kutztown. Rider was inflicted the lone setback on Panzer.

Coach Gerry Palaia last night revealed that he wasn't certain of the home team's starting lineup, but indicated that it would probably be the same one that has carried most of the load thus far this season.

This means that Wilmont Smith and Walt "Moose" Bjorn will be at the starting forward positions, while high scoring Kelly McLaughlin operates at his usual center spot. Hal Mihalik will be one of the guards, while the other defensive position will fall to either Steve Oliveri, Charley Galambos or Mike Sentell.

Reserves
Jack Burke is expected to see plenty of service for the home squad, while Tom Spillane, Ed Brewer, Howard "Howie" Case, Charley Stouffer and Frank Gohannes will be available for duty. The two schools will feature their junior varsity contingents in action at 7:15 p.m., while the varsities lock horns at approximately 8:30 p.m.

ESSTC returns to the basketball wars on Monday against Kings College, also on the Normal Hill hardwood.

Monroe County League Features Two Major Basketball Battles In Championship Chase

TWO VERY important basketball games are listed for the Monroe County League today and each will play a tremendous role in the final standings of the circuit.

In each case the junior varsity activity will get underway at 7:15 p.m.

Coolbaugh, currently setting a hot pace with five wins and one defeat, will collide with Barrett, on the latter's home boards in Canadensis.

Barrett is currently tied for second place and is sporting a mark of three wins and two defeats. Coolbaugh outlasted Barrett in their initial meeting, 41-40, at Tobyhanna.

Pocono, also tied for second place with Barrett and Chestnut Hill, will attempt to halt a two-game losing streak against Tobyhanna Township High, at Pocono Pines. Pocono opened the season with three straight wins, but has dropped successive outings to Chestnut Hill, the defending cham-

Champion, and Coolbaugh within a week.

TTHS has failed to win a league game in six tries thus far this season.

Pocono won over TTHS earlier in the season at Tannersville, 83-42.

Chestnut Hill and Polk, also scheduled for action today, have postponed their game until the end of the season, at the latter's request. Polk center Larry Souder is taking part in District Band today.

Wayne County Conference Lists Three Tilts Today

HONESDALE—Three games, two in the Northern Division and one in the Southern, are on tap tonight in the Wayne County Basketball Conference with still another, Honesdale at Hawley, scheduled for Saturday.

The Southern half battle will feature the first of two meetings between Lake Ariel and Greene-Dreher-Sterling at Newfoundland. The Stags, winners over Moscow in their initial outing Tuesday night, will be the designation of "chief" to division-leading Waymart. The Lakers have yet to win in Southern competition.

Five Straight
Waymart, with five straight wins in the records, entertains Pleasant Mount in a Northern division clash after having swamped Preston Tuesday night 76-36. The Mounties, who dropped an overtime decision to Honesdale Tuesday, 57-54, have won one of four WCC outings.

The other game matches Damascus and Preston with the winner moving out of the present deadlock for the cellar position in the Northern. Both clubs are 0-4 for the season.

A victory for Hawley over the Hornets would pull the Buckhorns into a second place tie in the Northern with Lake Ariel. The Lakers are 4-1 and Hawley 3-1 at present.

Auxiliary To Bowl
AMERICAN Legion Auxiliary bowlers clash at the Pocono Bowling Center today at 9 p.m. Schedule follows:

Bears Open Tri-County Cage Season

NEWFOUNDLAND — The local entry in the Tri-County Basketball League opens its home season here Saturday with the Honesdale Red Wings, last season's grand-slam champions, furnishing the opposition. The feature game of the doubleheader, the first game of which will bring together two local junior high school teams, is scheduled for 9 p.m.

Hubert "Back" Hutchins, manager and coach of the Bears, has announced the league schedule to be played on the local boards, pointing out that a number of exhibition games will be added shortly.

Schedule
The loop schedule locally follows, January 14, Honesdale; February 4, Starucca; February 25, Hawley; March 3, Pleasant Mount; March 17, Waymart. The latter has replaced Jeffersonville, N. Y., in the league.

The Bears have signed a number of former high school stars including Dick Osborne, Bill Herring, and Phil Feigel, members of Greene-Dreher-Sterling's great teams of the 1945-49 era, Wade Keen and Frank "Jerk" Davitt, of Waymart's District 12 PIAA champs of a few years ago, Henry Olsonmer, Bob Singer and Dave Heberling, GDS stars of more recent years.

Hutchins also announced that there would be no admission charge for the home games. Patrons will be afforded the opportunity to make voluntary donations.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Stags To Oppose Lake Ariel

NEWFOUNDLAND—Greene-Dreher-Sterling will attempt to land its second straight Wayne County Conference basketball victory today against a strong Lake Ariel crew, here on the former's home court.

The Stags are fresh from a 53-47 verdict over Moscow, defending champion, in their only circuit outing to date.

Lineup
Coach Henry "Hank" Arneberg's starting lineup is expected to have Captain John Manhart and Bob Haag at the forward slots and Howard Phillips at center. Junior varsity action is at 8 p.m. and the main event one hour later.

Next Friday the Stags entertain conference leading Waymart.

New Iodine Powerful Germ Killer--And Doesn't Sting

By Jerry Klein

NEWARK, N. J.—First the medicine men took the bitterness out of aspirin. Then they removed the stickiness from adhesive tape. Now they're taking the sting out of iodine—while at the same time making it an even more potent killer of germs!

The new iodine developed at the New Jersey State College of Pharmacy is so mild that Prof. Michael Iannarone doesn't at all mind being a guinea pig. Assistant professor of biology, Iannarone tests the iodine's germ-killing powers by painlessly swishing it around in his own mouth!

The search for the new iodine began when Benjamin Carroll, a chemistry professor at Rutgers university, was aroused by a report that chronically-infected wounds had been cured with iodine solutions. This seemed amazing because normal iodine solutions may burn tissue, not heal it.

"There have been literally thousands of scientific reports written on iodine since its antiseptic qualities were discovered a century ago," says Dr. Carroll. "Our department found that not one of these reports pin-pointed the active ingredient which makes iodine solutions effective."

Effective Germ Killer
The New Jersey scientists decided to look for this ingredient. After long research, they found that "the diatomic, or two-atomed, variety of iodine was the most effective germ killer and that the other elements in iodine solutions were almost ineffective."

Besides, says the professor, "we found that dissolving a few crystals—a housewife's pinch—of diatomic iodine in a bucket of water made as effective a disinfectant as far more iodine in the ordinary alcohol mixture used today."

This was a big change from the old theory that the more iodine of any kind which you put in a solution, the more powerful a germ-killer it will be. "That's where the sting came in. In an attempt to dissolve up to five per cent iodine in a solution that won't ordinarily absorb that much, other ingredients were being added to increase the absorption of iodine and thus, incidentally, making the mixture sting."

Dr. Carroll says his department's study has found that you can make an effective germicide—without any harm to sensitive skin—by using less than one-hundredth as much of the two-atomed type of iodine.

99.9% Killer
Professor Iannarone, given the task of measuring the effect this type of iodine has on germs, decided to use the new antiseptic in his own mouth—as well as in test tubes. The human mouth is a good place to test antiseptic because normally it contains millions of tiny bacteria.

Counting the number of germs in his mouth before and after using the new iodine as a mouth wash, Iannarone found that 99.9 per cent of the organisms were destroyed in record time. Later he found that the diatomic iodine would kill all types of germs, something none of the fancier wonder drugs will do so.

The Rutgers scientists say this is a significant discovery. With a program of mass inoculations—such as the polio vaccine, for example—there may not be sufficient steam sterilizers available to cleanse all the hypodermic needles pressed into use.

If the needles are not perfectly clean, they say there is danger of such infectious diseases as hepatitis, a stubborn liver ailment.

"Diatomic iodine makes an effective 'cold sterilizer' not only for hypodermics and other medical equipment," Prof. Iannarone declares, "but also for water in emergencies; and only a small amount is needed."

There may well be still other medical and sanitary uses for the new type of iodine, including a home medicine chest variety which will kill germs without stinging. Meantime, the Rutgers researchers advise against anyone's diluting the tincture of iodine in his medicine chest and using it as a mouth wash—it still stings!

Benson Says Quick Action Can Speed Aid To Farmers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Secretary Benson told Congress today that the administration's farm program should "give immediate buoyancy" to prices and start putting cash into farmers' pocketbooks by spring or summer.

The secretary of agriculture based this prediction on the proviso that Congress act swiftly on the program.

Testifying to the Senate Agriculture Committee in behalf of the administration plan, Benson said he considered one segment of it "dangerous" but justified by emergency conditions. He said a large part of the effect of the whole program "can be felt within the year" and:

Action By Feb. 15

"Quick action can make the soil bank operative for 1956 crops." This would mean the government could begin pouring out millions to farmers—in advance of the November elections.

The Democratic committee chairman, Sen. Ellender of Louisiana, said the intention is to get a farm bill through the Senate by Feb. 15.

While Benson was busy with the senators, Rep. Chelf (D-Ky) told the House the administration farm program was prepared in "secret sessions" with the counsel and assistance of a considerable number of big corporation farmers, the fat cats of agriculture.

Chelf did not identify any of the "fat cats smoking big black cigars in the conference room." He described one of them as "the big operator from Colorado who was dashing in and out of that meeting."

Approve Tax Exemption

In another farm development, the Senate Finance Committee approved in principle President Eisenhower's recommendation that the 2-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax be removed from gas used by farmers in nonhighway operations. A rider eliminating the tax will be attached to some minor House revenue bill cleared by the committee.

Benson was aware that Democrats already are building up the farm issue for this year's campaign and that many Capitol Hill Republicans have complained that the administration plan offers little prospect of an immediate halt to the five-year slide in farm income.

Dior Places Emphasis On Neckline

By Dorothy Roe

Associated Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Christian Dior ignores his alphabetical silhouettes—H, A and Y—but concerns himself with feminine necks this season.

Dramatic highpoint of almost every costume in the fabulous Frenchman's American collection for spring, previewed by the fashion press this week, is the neckline and collar treatment. Large, stand-away collars balance the slim line of spring sheaths. He calls this the "lilly" silhouette, pointing out that the wide collar flares out with grace of a lily—which indeed it does.

Suits also are likely to have wide collars, or collars that stand up in back, or collars that tie in front or on the shoulder, or collars that do other tricks. Skirts for the most part are straight and narrow, and jackets may be semifitted, boxy or cut on a low double-breasted line—but almost all are short.

Maurice Rentner considers this spring's styles "so pretty," and presents his new collection accordingly. He adds feminine lacy touches to wool suits and dresses, puts brief, curving boleros over revealing necklines of sheath dresses, likes gracefully flaring skirts for afternoon and evening wear.

Anthony Blotta also shows a new feminine look in his superbly tailored dressmaker suits, presents a cuffed harem hemline to make news in an afternoon dress of dark silk crepe.

West Urges U.N. To Censure Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 12 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today urged the Security Council to condemn Israel unanimously for its Lake Galilee raid which cost 56 Syrian lives. The West also warned new raids likely would produce stronger measures.

The Soviet Union, currying favor with the Arabs in Moscow's new look toward the Middle East, called for a censure vote too. In addition, the Russians insisted Israel pay full damages.

Western delegates stressed that they were not taking sides but were acting only to maintain peace. They said they did not mention compensation in a resolution put up by the United States, Britain and France because they could not find an equitable system of determining the compensation. They indicated they might consider damages if someone could suggest a fair way of levying them.

Syria put up a resolution calling on the Council to condemn Israel, levy damages against Israel and expel her from the U.N. Syria also demanded U.N. members impose economic penalties upon Israel.

Russia has sponsored the condemnation and compensation part of the resolution before the Council but did not take up the parts dealing with the expulsion of the economic penalties.
